"I always thought I'd be okay financially, but after my partner was made redundant we went through our savings quicker than we expected.

"Now the debts are really mounting. My partner is struggling to find work and this is putting strain on our relationship.

"It's become a vicious circle and I'm worried about a relapse of my depression."

"I've been caring for my father for several years, but recently things took a turn for the worse and it meant I had to reduce my hours at work. Unfortunately the cost of his care has also gone up.

"He requires specialist equipment but my finances are stretched to the limit.

"The whole situation is starting to take its toll and I'm worried I may have to go on unpaid sick leave because of the stress."

Money Advice

We can provide you with advice about debt or budgeting. We offer this advice along with our partners, aiming to prevent the continuing cycle of debt.

Relationships

Our partnership with Relate allows you to discuss any relationship problems you may be experiencing with a qualified Relate counsellor.

Caring

We may be able to help with some of the costs associated with your caring. If you're a serving civil servant we offer a Carer's Passport, a document to help better communicate your caring responsibilities to your manager.

Mental Health

We can offer you a supportive conversation and identify the most appropriate service and help.
